ABOUT ME

I am an expert on the ground of Web development and can do many things related to the job. I am quite adept in coding and markup languages and in creating some applications. I developed some systems in some company's and installed in their local servers.

I am self-taught, but I honestly believe that with the amount of tutorials on YouTube, and in the PHP community, one can learn everything–including HTML, CSS, PHP and JavaScript. Currently, I'm learning React.Js and Laravel. I've tried to make my living as a freelance Full Stack Web Developer.
